DIE VIA CLAUDIA AUGUSTA

Vor 2000 Jahren bauten die Römer die Wege der Etrusker, Räter und Kelten zur ersten trans-europäischen Straße über die Alpen aus. Sie verband die Gegenden und Orte entlang mit der Welt, förderte den kulturellen Austausch und die wirtschaftliche Entwicklung. 2000 Jahre – von der Antike bis heute – prägte und prägt die wichtige Verbindungsachse Regionen, Zeiten, Menschen und ihre Kulturen. Heute ist die Via Claudia Augusta eine bekannte und erfolgreiche touristische Themenstraße, eine Achse der gemeinsamen Identität, der Begegnung und des kulturellen sowie wirtschaftlichen Austausches.

LA VIA CLAUDIA AUGUSTA

Sulla traccia di preesistenti sentieri etruschi, retici e celtici, 2000 anni fa i Romani realizzarono la via Claudia Augusta, l'arteria alle origini dell'Europa che scavalcando le Alpi ha collegato e messo in comunicazione le pianure adriatiche con quelle danubiane, favorendo gli scambi economici e culturali. In 2000 anni di storia questo importante asse viario ha plasmato e messo in comunicazione territori, epoche, genti e culture. Oggi la Via Claudia Augusta è una strada a tema turistico conosciuta e di successo, un asse di identità condivisa, di incontri e di scambi culturali ed economici.

THE VIA CLAUDIA AUGUSTA

2000 years ago the Romans developed the roads of the Etruscans, Rats and Celts into the first trans-European road across the Alps. It connected the regions and places along the way with the world, promoted cultural exchange and economic development. For 2000 years - from antiquity to the present day - the important connecting axis has shaped and continues to shape regions, times, people and their cultures. Today, the Via Claudia Augusta is a well-known and successful tourist theme road, an axis of shared identity, of encounters and of cultural and economic exchange.

THE ROMAN IMPERIAL ROAD ACROSS THE ALPS

In the year 15 BC, the Romans headed north and started to expand them to become the 1st proper road across the Alps. Sixty years later, this revolutionary feat of construction was completed around 45/46 AD and named „Imperial Road of Claudius“ after the governing emperor. The trans-European road link also survived the fall of the Roman Empire. Goods were exchanged and the peoples and cultures of many different countries converged along it. The marked route in the foot steps of the road founded by the Romans winds its way along picturesque country lanes and mountain passes from the Danube across the Alps to Altino near Venice and Ostiglia on the Po. Varied landscapes, tranquil villages, bustling towns and a large number of sights and landmarks that have helped to shape the route await the traveller en route.

ROUTE: approx. 600 km from Donauwörth, Bavaria, across the Alps to Altino near Venice and Ostiglia on the Po.

PROFILE: long and varied routes through the countryside and valleys, between small towns and bustling towns.
